From the pages of "Puffy Pop" and "Breezy Green Pastures," we learn about a new form of "begging," a new "beggar" who has, in the last few months, been causing quite a stir in the city. This young man, who we shall call "Beggar," has managed to make more money than any other beggar in the city.

Beggar has been traveling around the country, using various aliases and techniques to con people out of their money. He is known to be a master of "begging," and has been able to make a substantial amount of money in a short period of time.

Beggar has been seen in various locations, including train stations, bus stops, and on the street corners. He is known to be quite resourceful and has been able to change his appearance to avoid being recognized.
