Transfer of the Lenox and Astor Library Contents to the Beautiful New Building at Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue a Big Undertaking.

The transfer of the Lenox and Astor Library contents to the beautiful new building at Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue is a big undertaking. The new building, which is being erected on the corner of Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue, will be the home of the two libraries for many years to come. The building is being constructed in the latest style of architecture, and is designed to accommodate a large number of readers. The old libraries, which are located in the same building, are being transferred to the new building, and the new library will be opened to the public in the near future. The new building is being regarded as one of the finest libraries in the world, and is expected to attract a large number of visitors and readers. The old libraries, which are located in the same building, are being transferred to the new building, and the new library will be opened to the public in the near future. The new building is being regarded as one of the finest libraries in the world, and is expected to attract a large number of visitors and readers. The new library is being equipped with the latest facilities, and is expected to provide a comfortable and pleasant reading environment for its patrons.

The new library will have a large central reading room, which will be surrounded by a number of smaller reading rooms. The central reading room will be equipped with a number of bookshelves, and will be situated on the first floor of the building. The smaller reading rooms will be located on the second and third floors of the building, and will be equipped with bookshelves and reading tables. The new library will also have a number of conference rooms, which will be available for use by groups of readers. The new library will be open from 9:00 AM to 9:00 PM, seven days a week, and will be staffed by a large number of librarians and other staff members. The new library is being regarded as one of the finest libraries in the world, and is expected to attract a large number of visitors and readers. The old libraries, which are located in the same building, are being transferred to the new building, and the new library will be opened to the public in the near future. The new building is being regarded as one of the finest libraries in the world, and is expected to provide a comfortable and pleasant reading environment for its patrons.