BURNS, A DETECTIVE FROM WHOM LECOQ MIGHT LEARN

Astounding Record of a Great Sleuth Who Has Been Employed on All of Uncle Sam's Big Cases for a Generation, and Who Now Claims to Have Caught the Los Angeles Dynamiters.

The New York Times
Copyright © The New York Times

In Indianapolis, Indiana, a detective named Burns has made a sensational arrest. He has caught the man who is responsible for all the recent dynamite explosions in Los Angeles. This detective is known throughout the country as one of the greatest sleuths in the world, and his name is now synonymous with successful investigation.

Burns was born in Philadelphia, and began his career as a street cleaner. He soon showed a remarkable aptitude for detective work, and was quickly promoted to the position of detective in the Philadelphia police force. From there he went on to become a detective in the New York City police force, and was eventually promoted to the rank of detective in the Los Angeles police force.

Burns is a man of great intelligence, and his methods are based on the scientific approach. He believes in using all available resources, and has been known to use the latest in technology to solve cases.

Burns' most recent case involved the dynamite explosions in Los Angeles. He had been working on the case for several months, and had gathered a great deal of evidence. He finally located the man responsible for the explosions, and arrested him.

Burns is now a hero in Los Angeles, and has been invited to a reception in his honor. He is expected to speak at the reception, and is expected to be a guest of honor at a banquet later in the evening.

Burns is a man of high moral character, and is respected by all who know him. He is expected to continue his work as a detective, and is likely to have many more cases to solve in the future.

The New York Times